PSI may transfer Personal Data to a regulatory or law enforcement agency where consistent with public interest or law enforcement requirements as provided for in the DPF Programs. PSI at a minimum would make such a transfer only for the purpose of establishing, exercising, or defending against legal claims, or for the prevention, investigation, or detection of violations of law. Neither PSI nor any of its members has any control over regulatory or law enforcement agencies that may be potential transferees. Applicable law in different jurisdictions may affect the confidentiality of the information voluntarily submitted by an individual to PSI and transferred to such agencies. As a result, PSI cannot make any assurances as to whether or not any such agency will keep such personally identifying information confidential.

4. Security

PSI has taken reasonable measures to assure that Personal Data that it collects or has been supplied to it is retained in a secure manner. Only authorized users, bound by confidentiality agreements, are granted access to the data stored by PSI. Remote access to the Personal Data is not available.

PSI has appointed a Chief Security Officer (“CSO”) who is in charge of PSI’s security policy and who monitors compliance with this policy. PSI also requires employees to review and adhere to this Privacy Policy, in addition to their general agreement as to the maintenance of confidentiality.

PSI holds periodic security training and compliance evaluation sessions for all its employees which include a discussion of PSI’s Privacy Policy, awareness of its discipline process, how to take action to protect data and equipment in the event of disaster, and training on PSI’s back-up procedures and methods of safe disposal of data.

International Transfers of your Personal Data.

Your Personal Data may be transferred to and stored in countries outside of the jurisdiction you are in where we and our third party recipients have operations. If you are located in the European Union (“EU”), your Personal Information will be processed in the United States; these international transfers of your Personal Information are made pursuant to the DPF Programs to ensure an adequate level of protection for that Personal Data.

Data Integrity

PSI seeks to ensure that all Personal Data that it maintains is up to date, accurate, complete and relevant.

PSI will retain Personal Data only for as long as necessary to fulfil the purposes it was collected it for as set out above. To determine the appropriate retention period for Personal Data, PSI consider the amount, nature, and sensitivity of the Personal Data, the potential risk of harm from unauthorized use or disclosure of Personal Data, the purposes for which PSI processes that Personal Data and the applicable legal requirements.

5. Access to Your Personal Data

If you are based in the EU or a jurisdiction with similar privacy laws, subject to any exemptions provided for under applicable law that we may rely on, you have the following rights in respect of Personal Data that we hold about you:

- Right to object. You have a right, in some circumstances, to object to any processing based on our legitimate interests. There may, however, be compelling reasons for continuing to process your Personal Data, and we will assess and inform you if that is the case.
- Right of access. You have the right to obtain access to your Personal Data along with certain related information.
- Right of portability. You have the right, in certain circumstances, to receive a copy of the Personal Data you have provided to us in a structured, commonly used, machine-readable format that supports re-use, or to request the transfer of your Personal Data to another person.
- Right to rectification. You have the right to obtain rectification of any inaccurate or incomplete Personal Data we hold about you without undue delay.
- Right to erasure. You have the right, in some circumstances, to require us to erase your Personal Data without undue delay if the continued processing of that Personal Data is not justified. Right to restriction. You have the right, in some circumstances, to require us to limit the purposes for which we process your Personal Data if the continued processing of the Personal Data in this way is not justified, such as where the accuracy of the Personal Data is contested by you.

You also have the right to lodge a complaint to your local EU data protection authority. Further information about how to contact your local data protection authority is available at: http://ec.europa.eu/justice/data-protection/bodies/authorities/index\_en.htm.

Irrespective of where you are based, with exceptions permitted under the DPF Programs, you have the right to access any Personal Data that PSI retains about you in order to correct, amend or delete inaccurate information.

In the event that you wish to exercise any of these rights, please contact PSI at datacontroller@psi-inc.org. In order to be able to access your Personal Data, you must provide PSI with your unique username and password, or if inapplicable, a physical or electronic signature.

PSI may deny access to Personal Data to any individual as may be permitted under the DPF Programs or applicable law. For example, such denials may arise where, in PSI's opinion, the information about such individual cannot readily be separated from the information that relates to alleged Counterfeiting and related activities, or any confidential commercial information of PSI's members, or generally where (i) necessary to protect important countervailing public interests, such as national security, public security, or public health, (ii) in PSI's opinion such access would interfere with (a) the execution or enforcement of the law, including the prevention, investigation or detection of offenses or the right to a fair trial, or (b) private causes of action, including the prevention, investigation or detection of legal claims or the right to a fair trial, (iii) employee security investigations or grievance proceedings would be prejudiced, (iv) the confidentiality necessary in monitoring, inspection, and regulatory functions connected with sound management would be prejudiced, (v) in PSI's opinion the burden or expense of providing access would be disproportionate to the risks created to the individual's privacy in the case in question, or (vi) in PSI's opinion the rights of persons other than the individual would likely be violated.

PSI may charge a reasonable fee for providing access to Personal Data.

6. Enforcement

The DPF Programs Principle relating to enforcement has three components: dispute resolution, verification, and remedies, each of which is a part of PSI's Privacy Policy.

A. Dispute Resolution Procedure

If you have an inquiry or complaint regarding PSI's compliance with the DPF Programs Principles, you should first contact PSI in writing, informing that person of any specific inquiry or complaint you may have about PSI's collection, retention or usage of your Personal Data.

In compliance with the EU-U.S. DPF and the Swiss-U.S. DPF, Pharmaceutical Security Institute, Inc. commits to refer unresolved complaints concerning our handling of personal data received in reliance on the EU-U.S. DPF and the Swiss-U.S. DPF to the International Centre for Dispute Resolution of the American Arbitration Association, an alternative dispute resolution provider based in the United States. If you do not receive timely acknowledgment of your DPF Principles-related complaint from us, or if we have not addressed your DPF Principles-related complaint to your satisfaction, please visit ICDR-AAA DPF IRM Service for more information or to file a complaint. The services of International Centre for Dispute Resolution of the American Arbitration Association are provided at no cost to you.

The Federal Trade Commission has jurisdiction over PSI's compliance with the EU-U.S. Data Privacy Framework (EU-U.S. DPF) and the Swiss-U.S. Data Privacy Framework (Swiss-U.S. DPF). DPF Programs Verification

On a periodic basis, but not less frequently than once every year, PSI conducts its own objective DPF Programs compliance review procedure. PSI also verifies that its Privacy Policy, as set forth herein, is accurate, comprehensive, prominently displayed, and completely implemented, including implementation of appropriate employee training and other internal procedures.

B. Remedies

The sanctions for non-compliance with the DPF Programs principles range from suspension from the DPF Programs to the award of damages to individuals for privacy violations. Other sanctions include public notice of non-compliance and injunctions. Persistent non-compliance with DPF Programs principles may result in the loss of its benefit. These sanctions will be enforced by the entities to which a dispute has appropriately been referred. Unless otherwise required by law, sanctions shall not include compensatory or punitive damages.
